U.S. Committee for World Games meets on campus

Members of the U.S. Committee for the 1985 team for the World Games for the Deaf were on campus late last month to meet with President Jerry C. Lee, discuss plans for future publicity for the team and give awards to those who helped support the tryouts held at Gallaudet over the summer.

At a luncheon Oct. 1, Bill Simpson, committee chairman, presented the College a plaque for hosting the basketball, soccer and tennis tryouts. Robert Davila, vice president for Pre-College Programs, accepted the plaque on behalf of the College. Simpson also gave Marriott Corporation a plaque in appreciation of its support during the tryouts in Washington. Team Director Henry White, assistant principal of the Florida School for the Deaf and Blind, gave Al Couthen, assistant principal of KDES, an award in recognition of his support and work in coordinating the tryouts.

"You're always invited to train here."

Memorial service set

A memorial service for Dorothy Hamberg will be held Tuesday, Oct. 9 at 3 p.m. at Elstad Auditorium.

An associate professor in the Department of Physical Education and Athletics who worked at Gallaudet College for 20 years, Miss Hamberg died in June. While at Gallaudet, she founded and directed the Gallaudet Summer Children's Program, a recreational program for children of College faculty and staff members.

All 3 p.m. physical education classes will be cancelled on both campuses Oct. 9.

Lee to be inaugurated College's sixth president Oct. 19

Installation activities set Oct. 18-19

Hundreds of delegates and special guests are expected to join faculty, staff and students for the inauguration of Jerry C. Lee as the sixth president of Gallaudet College Friday, Oct. 19.

Registration of delegates and special guests will begin Thursday, Oct. 18 and will continue the following morning before the inauguration begins at 10:30 at the Field House. Delegates will represent educational associations and schools across the country while special guests will include members of Congress, College donors and other friends of Gallaudet.

A reception for delegates and special guests—who will be housed on campus Oct. 18—will be held Thursday from 5 to 7:30 p.m. at "Ole Jim."

That evening, the Board of Trustees will host a dinner for Dr. and Mrs. Lee at the Hyatt Regency.

All the faculty members from the College, Northwest Campus, MSSD and KDES will participate in the procession, along with the Board, alumni and student representatives, platform guests and delegates. The procession will begin at 10:15 a.m. Faculty members and alumni and Student Body Government representatives will gather at Hughes Gym for the procession to the Field House. Platform guests will join faculty, alumni and student representatives at the Field House.

Before the investiture begins, greetings to Dr. Lee will be given by four groups: Gallaudet's combined faculty, the Student Body Government, the Gallaudet College Alumni Association and the National Association of the Deaf.

John Brademas, president of New York University, will be the guest speaker at the inauguration and will be introduced by Congressman David E. Bonior (D-MI), a member of Gallaudet's Board of Trustees.

Brademas, a former member of Congress, was instrumental in getting legislation establishing MSSD and KDES passed in the House of Representatives. He has been at the forefront of education of the handicapped and is a leader in higher education.

Following Brademas' speech, Dr. Lee will be inducted as the College's sixth president. The induction will be conducted by Jane Bassett Spilman, chairman of the Board of Trustees, and Edward C. Merrill, Jr., the College's fourth president.

The inauguration is expected to last for two hours, after which a lunch for invited guests will be held at KDES.

The Visitors Center will give tours of the campus to special guests and delegates from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

From 3:30 to 5 p.m., a president's reception is scheduled in the chapel of Chapel Hall. The reception—the first event to be held in the chapel since it was refurbished earlier this year—is open to the entire campus community.

The reception will mark the end of installation activities held on campus. A gala celebration will be held later in the evening at La Fontaine Bleu in Lanham, MD.

Arrangements

Arrangements are now being finalized to help accommodate the large number of people expected on campus for the inauguration of Jerry C. Lee Oct. 19.

Campus police are encouraging employees to car-pool or use public transportation that day and the television studio is preparing to televise the inauguration proceedings to overflow crowds.

According to Floyd Holt, director of the Department of Safety and Security, four parking lots on the main campus will be reserved for delegates and program and special guests.

The parking lot behind the Field House, the Hall Memorial Building parking lot, the parking lot near College Hall and the lot behind Chapel Hall will be closed to employees that day. Those lots will be manned by members of the campus security force to ensure that only vehicles with special permits park in the lots.

Zone restrictions will be suspended that day and the Transportation Department will move its fleet of buses from Lot E, Holt said. In addition, the Transportation Department will run a shuttle from the overflow lot off Sixth Street to main campus. While Holt was unsure of shuttle times as On the Green went to press, he said the campus community would be notified of the schedule before Oct. 19.

The Gallaudet College Television Studio has also made arrangements to accommodate the overflow crowd dur-

Faculty SimCom evaluations set for end of month

The first faculty SimCom evaluation of the academic year will be held later this month.

The expressive evaluation will be held on both campuses the week of Oct. 22. The evaluation will be given Monday, Oct. 22 at the Northwest Campus and Tuesday, Oct. 23 through Thursday, Oct. 25 at the Kendall Green campus.

The receptive evaluation will be given the following week. The evaluation will be given Monday, Oct. 29 at the Northwest Campus and Tuesday, Oct. 30 through Thursday, Nov. 1 at the Kendall Green campus.

Other testing dates during the academic year are: Feb. 11-13 (expressive evaluation), Feb. 18-20 (receptive evaluation) and April 1-5

Plan an outing

by Sandy Tiemann

Autumn in Washington, D.C. is a favorite time of year. It's a good time to enjoy the sites of the surrounding areas.

You can avoid the crowds on Skyline Drive and still see brilliant fall foliage by driving to Gambrill State Park on Catocin Mountain in Maryland. Hiking and picnicking facilities are available.

Or, in nearby Virginia you can see the Great Falls Park overlooking a rather rugged part of the Potomac River. In addition to the falls, you can see the ruins of the Patowmack Canal, part of George Washington's plan to make the Potomac River a major waterway to the west. Directions for both locations are found in Natural Washington, Ref. 917.53 T5n 1980. On a rainy day, the Capital

Children's Museum on 3rd and I Streets, NE is a good place to take children. This is a "Please do Touch" kind of place. There are ponchos and straw hats for the kids to try on in the Mexican market exhibit, computer terminals to experiment with in the communications display and much more. Admission is $2 regardless of age.

The Museum of American History has everything from railroad locomotives to gowns worn by the first ladies, to an old fashioned ice cream parlor. Sign language tours can be arranged in advance by calling 357-1563 (TDD). More information about these museums is found in Washington D.C., the Complete Guide, Ref 917.53 D8u 1982.

Ideas for other scenic, historical or cultural activities close to Washington, D.C. are described in The One-Day Trip Book, Ref. 917.53 S60 1978 and Weekender's Guide to the Four Seasons, Ref. 917.5 S45r 1982.

(expressive and receptive evaluations). However, the Department of Interpreter/Transliterator Instruction suggests that faculty members be tested this month because the February date is so close to the deadline for faculty evaluations and the April date is past the deadline.

The evaluations set this month will be given in the conference room at the Northwest Campus and in US-21 of the Learning Center at the Kendall Green campus. Faculty members should reserve 20 to 30 minutes for the expressive evaluation and two hours for the receptive evaluation.

Faculty members can sign up for the evaluations in Ann Davidson's office at the Northwest Campus and in the Faculty Orientation Office—US-21 of the Learning Center—at the Kendall Green campus.

Anyone unsure as to whether an evaluation is needed should check the faculty guidelines or speak to your department chairperson. According to the faculty guidelines, faculty members expecting to be considered for promotion, tenure or merit increase during the 1984-85 academic year should be evaluated if they haven't passed the evaluation within the last three years, which includes the year under consideration.

Discussion scheduled

A Student Health Service rap session will be held Wednesday, Oct. 17 from 7 to 8 p.m. in the lounge of Carlin Hall. At that time, the Student Health Service will be discussed and questions and comments about the center welcomed.

Sponsored R&D

Grant/contract deadlines

Provided below are application deadlines of selected federal programs that offer potential grant or contract opportunities for Kendall Green faculty, staff and graduate students. More details on these and other programs of interest can be obtained from the Office of Sponsored Research at x5030 (voice or TDD).

Deadline	Program
10/22/84	NEH: Assess the Quality of Teaching and Learning in the Humanities

Health program

The Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) has announced that approximately $6 million is expected to be available under the Fiscal Year 1985 Health Career Opportunity Program.

The program offers grants involving counseling, recruitment, education and financial aid advice for persons from disadvantaged backgrounds. Its purpose is to assist the disadvantaged in entering and graduating from health professions schools. Applications are due Nov. 2.

An average grant under this program this year was approximately $30,000. Some grants were awarded for as much as $250,000.

For more information, call the Office of Sponsored Research at x5030 or HRSA at (301) 443-6857.

Among Ourselves

Kathleen Shaver, assistant research scientist in the Division of Research, co-authored an article appearing in the March edition of the Journal of Pediatrics. Entitled "Autoimmunity in Congenital Rubella Syndrome," the article describes some of the results of Shaver's study of diabetes in rubella-deafened students at the Maryland, Virginia and Model Secondary Schools for the Deaf. The article originates from the University of Virginia and the Medical College of Virginia.

Roz Rosen, dean of Continuing Education, served as the keynote speaker at the state-wide Ohio Deafness And Rehabilitation Association (ODARA) convention on April 27. Her talk was entitled "Education of the Deaf: A Deaf Adult's Perspective." The following day she spoke on "What's So Different About Teaching Deaf Adults?"

Ronald Nomeland of the Department of Educational Technology was elected president of the Association of Resource Persons Serving the Deaf (ARPSHI). ARPSHI is a special interest group of the Convention of American Instructors of the Deaf.

Diane Hottendorf of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics presented a paper entitled "Champions, the Deaf Who Dance" at an international symposium on the campus of the University of Southern California. The paper was presented July 24.

Anne Nissen, assistant director of Experiential Programs Off Campus (EPOC), was inducted as president of the Cooperative Educational Association at the annual conference in New Orleans, LA. The theme of the conference, held April 23-27, was "The Challenge of Change." Lillie S. Ransom, cooperative education/intern coordinator at EPOC, also attended the conference.

Eloise Molock, a career counselor with the Counseling and Placement Center, completed the certificate program in intercultural training at the Georgetown University School of Summer and Continuing Education. The program was co-sponsored by the Society for Intercultural Education, Training and Research. In addition to her responsibilities as a career counselor, Molock is the coordinator of the Black Student Concerns and Student Cultural Awareness programs.

Art Roehrig, director of Hearing-Vision Impaired Programs, and Thelma Schroeder, assistant director of Hearing-Vision Impaired Programs, attended the ninth annual convention of the American Association of the Deaf-Blind in Seattle, WA, June 24 through July 1.

Mervin Garretson, special assistant to the president, was the keynote speaker at the Illinois Parents of the Hearing Impaired State Day in Normal, IL. His speech highlighted the daylong conference, which included workshops and exhibits.

Deafness and the juvenile justice system

The following is excerpted from a paper prepared by Sy DuBow, legal director of the National Center for Law and the Deaf. He presented it at the National Conference on Habilitation and Rehabilitation of Deaf Adolescents in Wagoner, OK, earlier this year.

Judges, lawyers, court clerks, youth and probation officers are overall unaware of the special problems of deafness. The juvenile court system, faced with an increasing case load and unfamiliarity with deafness, frequently drops the problems of deaf adolescent offenders back in the laps of parents and schools, especially residential schools. The juvenile judge rarely commits a deaf adolescent offender to correctional institutions.

There is a common concern among school administrators and teachers at residential schools that the courts are not going to do anything and the deaf kids know it. The juvenile court system becomes a revolving door that deaf adolescents take advantage of with abandon. The end result is that these youngsters do not develop the value that they are responsible for the consequences of their own actions.

Interpreter problems

Deaf parents of a deaf or hearing adolescent charged with an offense are rarely provided a qualified interpreter. In one case in Virginia, the court had the charged hearing adolescent interpret for his deaf parents. This created an emotional conflict for the juvenile. The parents were also confused why their boy was found not innocent, since their son interpreted his own version to his parents, leaving out the incriminating testimony. Efforts have been made to correct these communication problems. A training seminar was conducted for Virginia court clerks on the importance of qualified interpreters in juvenile proceedings. A North Carolina interpreter law has been passed that requires appointment of qualified interpreters for deaf parents. It is essential that deaf parents understand juvenile proceedings. For example, their child may be placed on supervised probation which may include curfew restrictions and scheduled meetings with a probation officer or case worker. The deaf parents, therefore, must understand the terms of probation and the consequences of violations of that probation or repeated offenses.

As you might expect, there have also been problems because of courts not appointing qualified interpreters for deaf adolescents. More and more states, however, are amending their interpreter laws to include all court proceedings, including juvenile proceedings. It is imperative that a deaf adolescent is aware of the charges, evidence against him and the court's action.

Conclusions

Few deaf adolescents are committed to correctional institutions. That is a fortunate occurrence since there are no special educational programs available in those institutions to meet their unique needs. Most juvenile judges place deaf adolescent offenders on probation and some require alternative punishment in the form of community work. The court system, like correctional institutions, have little training on deafness. I would encourage state commissions for the deaf and organizations of and for deaf people to try to establish in-service training programs with the courts. This was done successfully in Virginia, where a portion of the annual convention of state court clerks was devoted to ways to overcome communication barriers.

In my opinion, the burden of decreasing deaf adolescent delinquency will realistically fall on the shoulders of parents and schools. It is doubtful juvenile courts will seek sentencing alternatives to meet the unique problems for the small population of deaf adolescent offenders, especially in light of courts' increasing case loads.

I would recommend that schools have their juvenile offenders participate in programs at local and state correctional facilities. A model for this project is in New Jersey where convicts tell juvenile offenders of the ways of prison life. In no-nonsense sessions, the convicts discuss the consequences of continued law breaking, as a recent "60 Minutes" television program demonstrated.

Finally, I would encourage schools to expand on their counseling programs to cover such topics as family problems and sex, alcohol and drug abuse.

Cast of 'Godspell' takes its musical show on the road

MSSD's travelling troupe has hit the road, taking excerpts from last spring's musical, "Godspell," to events throughout the Washington, D.C. area.

The group will perform and conduct a workshop at the Montgomery County Teachers' Association meeting Wednesday, Oct. 10 at 9 a.m. at Strathmore Hall Arts Center in Rockville, MD. Later that day, the troupe will travel back to Washington for an 11:30 a.m. show at the Department of Transportation.

On Oct. 17, the student performers will appear at the Food and Drug Administration in Washington.

The players opened their touring season at the Capital Hill Club Sept. 25 for the inaugural event of the National Challenge Committee, a new group representing the disabled in all walks of life.

They also appeared before the Food and Drug Administration in Rockville on Oct. 2.

Terrylene Theriot, a member of the troupe and winner of the National Committee, Arts with the Handicapped (NCAH) 1984 Integrated Young Playwrights Competition, spoke on the arts to an NCAH group at the University of Maryland Oct. 2.

MSSD's Performing Arts Department will kick off its at-home season with a Theatre Showcase Festival Nov. 1,2,3,8,9 and 10 at 8 p.m.

Faculty seminar set

The Fall 1984 School of Education and Human Services (SEHS) Faculty Development Seminar will be held Wednesday, Oct. 17 from 9 a.m. to noon in the Ely Center multipurpose room.

Co-sponsored by SEHS and the Department of Educational Foundations and Research, the workshop will address issues related to cultural and linguistic diversity in the schools and will focus on the application of those issues to professionals who will be working in schools.

Featured guest speakers will include Orlando Taylor, a professor at Howard University, and Ernie Hairston of the Federal Office of Special Education Programs. Taylor has published widely in this field and Hairston recently published a book about black deaf persons.

For more information on the seminar, call Boris Bogatz at x5395 or Tim Reagan at x5437.

Calendar of Extension Events

The following extension programs are being planned throughout the United States. For more information about upcoming events, contact the campus sponsor or the Office of Extension Programs. ing the inauguration.

Eight-by-10-foot television screens will be located at Elstad Auditorium and in Room LN11 of the Learning Center. Additionally, every television set connected to the College cable system will show the inauguration on cable Channel 20.

Television coverage will begin at about 10:15 a.m. with the procession entering the Field House.

Although campus offices will not be closed for the entire day, the campus community is encouraged to view the inauguration in the morning and attend the reception at Chapel Hall in the afternoon.

All classes will be cancelled that day.

A retirement party was held for Lucille Ryan at the campus television studio, where she works as an administrative secretary.

During a break in action, head soccer coach Marty Minter goes over some game strategy with members of Gallaudet's soccer team. The soccer team has a 5-2 record so far this season.

General campus announcements

- The Counseling and Placement Center, a unit of Student Affairs, will sponsor the sixth annual Graduate School Information Day Thursday, Oct. 18 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Ely Center multipurpose room.

Representatives of various colleges and universities which offer graduate programs in fields related to deafness—education, rehabilitation, audiology, counseling, psychology, etc.—will be on hand that day to meet with students. In addition, materials will be available from other colleges and universities unable to send representatives to campus.

Students, faculty and staff members are welcome to attend. For more information, contact Karen Reidy at the Counseling and Placement Center at x5638.

- Applications for the Kellogg National Fellowship Program for potential leaders from academia and the public and private sectors are currently available in the Development Office.

The program offers fellowships to academics in the early stages of their professional careers (ages have ranged from 26 to 50) who wish to obtain broad experience in leadership activities.

Applications are due by Dec. 31. For more information, call the Development Office at x5410.

- A department night will be held every Friday during Happy Hour at "Ole Jim" beginning later this month. Departments will be selected on a weekly basis, with members of the department to receive letters of invitation to come to Happy Hour that Friday.

If a least three members of the department show up, they will be given discounts on drinks.

Happy Hour is held at "Ole Jim" every Thursday and Friday from 4 to 7 p.m. Music and snacks are provided during Happy Hour.

- The School of Education and Human Services (SEHS) will sponsor a professional association expo Oct. 12 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the multipurpose room of Ely Center.

Professional associations pertinent to the professional fields represented in SEHS have been invited to have a representative on hand and an exhibit on display during the day.

For more information, contact Philip Saif at Fowler Hall, Room 212, ext. 5394.

- A "travelogue" with Carl and Thelma Schroeder will be held at "Ole Jim" Saturday, Oct. 13 at 7 p.m. The Schroeders spent the 1983-84 academic year in the Netherlands after Carl was selected for one of the Thomas J. Watson Foundation fellowships. He studied the rights of deaf people in the Netherlands for the year.

The Schroeders will talk about their trip, show slides and answer questions during the "travelogue," which is free and open to the campus community.

- About $2,600 was raised for four charities during Tim Medina's fourth annual deaf benefit party at Chadwick's of Georgetown. The fund-raiser was held July 13-14, with more than 900 persons attending.

The Mark 7 Summer Camp for Underprivileged Deaf Children in New York received $1,000, the District of Columbia Association of Deaf Citizens received $800, the Camp for the Deaf, Inc. in Landover, MD, received $500 and the Metropolitan Washington Association of the Deaf received $300 from the benefit.

Twenty percent of the sales from Chadwick's those two evenings went to the four organizations, according to Medina.

Committee for World Games meets

We welcome you to use the campus," Jerry Lee told committee members Donald Ammons, Simpson and Ron Sutcliffe at the Sept. 27 meeting held to discuss the College's role in the XV World Games scheduled for July 10-20 in Los Angeles, CA. Ammons pointed out that out of 195 athletes selected for the team, one-third—32 students, 27 alumni and eight MSSD students—are members of the Gallaudet community. "We want to do something special for our players and support the program," Lee said. He discussed the possibility of Gallaudet hosting a reception in Los Angeles. He also suggested that Gallaudet provide each team member a T-shirt for practice and present Gallaudet athletes something more, such as a jacket. "Gallaudet wants to support the Games in the best way it can," he told the committee members.

A listing of Gallaudet athletes on the U.S. team will be published in an upcoming issue of On the Green.

Women's volleyball team on a roll

The women's volleyball team had a banner week from Sept. 22 to Sept. 29, winning nine matches. The Bisonettes defeated Goucher, St. Mary's, Marymount, Hunter, NJIT and Upsala. Since losing its first two games of the season, the Bisonettes have won 10 in a row. The team is now sporting a 10-2 overall record.

The football team lost its season opener to Ferrum Junior College 14 to 0 on Friday, Sept. 28. Although a drizzle fell throughout the game, about 350 fans, along with the San Diego Chicken, turned out to cheer the team. Ferrum scored two touchdowns in the first quarter. The first was on a 66-yard run and the second came on a 13-yard completion in the end zone. The extra point kick was good on both attempts.

For the rest of the game, the defense held Ferrum in check but the offense failed to mount a qualified threat.

The field hockey team is still looking for its first victory of the season after losing two games last week—to Mt.

Vernon 3 to 0 and to Trinity 3 to 1. The team's overall record is 0-3, with about one dozen games left to play in the season.

The soccer team boosted its record to 5-2 with a 4 to 2 victory over Coplin State but lost to Frederick Community College 3 to 2 in overtime action Sept. 28. In that game, the Bison booters were leading 1 to 0 with only minutes to play. The game went into overtime after the referee called a penalty against the Bison and awarded Frederick a penalty kick which tied the score.

Correction

An article in the Sept. 24 issue of On the Green about admissions tests scores for entering students contained an error. The incoming preparatory class averaged a score of 47 out of 100 possible points on the Gallaudet-developed test, not 51.3 as was reported.
